GROVELAND SWEPT BY NIGHT FIRE

Conflagration Which Wipes Out Business District of Town in Tuolumne Also Threatens Hetch-Hetchy

San Francisco Supervisors Aid in Rescuing Hotel Guests and Fighting Flames; Loss Is Estimated At $200,000

The business section of Groveland, in Tuolumne county, is an area of smoking ashes today as a result of a fire which last night swept from one end of it to the other and for a time threatened to destroy a portion of the construction work on the Hetch-Hetchy project.

San Francisco supervisors on their annual inspection tour of the Hetch-Hetchy, joined the volunteer fire fighters and aided in rescuing vacationers from the Groveland Hotel.

The loss will amount to $200,000.

CLAD IN NIGHTDRESSES.

The following buildings were destroyed:

Barber shop operated by Ode Malone.

Postoffice building.

Office of the Peace offices of J. G. DeFazio.

Groveland Hotel Annex.

Opera House.

Butcher shop, S. A. Ferrell.

Hetch-Hetchy Co-operative Store.

Charles Coping's candy store.

Schoolhouse.

Supervisor Charles Nelson of San Francisco, who with a group of the community was playing cards at the Hetch-Hetchy, clattered first discovered the flames. With the other members of the party he went to the Groveland Hotel and assisted in the rescue of the guests.

So rapidly did the fire spread through the little town that most of those in the hotel were forced to escape in their nightclothes, and it was apparent that there could be no hope for the saving of any of the stores.

HETCH-HETCHY PUMPS CHECK CONFLAGRATION.

When City Engineer O'Shaughnessy ordered the pumps in the second garage shaft of the Hetch-Hetchy opened and turned into the mains of the town, sufficient force was obtained to check the fire. After it was thought that the conflagration was under control the wind fanned it once more and in the new spread the opera house was threatened.

Hand fire extinguishers, garden hose and blankets were used by townsmen and workmen from the Hetch-Hetchy before the conflagration was put out. Supervisor Edwin G. Bath and Charles Skelly rushed into the hotel and saved many effects, and also five barrels of whisky. Most of the burned buildings were the property of T. H. Carlin.

Burglar Calls Victim By Phone Doesn't Like Loot; Tells Her So

PIEDMONT, June 16.—"Of course, value and that he would return insulating your field-glasses, but they are of no value to me, so I will return them within a few days."

So said Piedmont's "daylight burglar" when he telephoned to Mrs. E. D. Hawkins of 11 Monte avenue today after he had politely introduced himself thus:

"Is this Mrs. Hawkins? Well, this is the man who broke into your house last Friday afternoon. You probably remember the incident."

Friday afternoon and among other things of minor value which were taken was a pair of field glasses.

Over the telephone, the burglar told Mrs. Hawkins that they were of no prints.

'Scab' Cries Greet Worker, Police Quell Disturbance

The police were called this morning when the first approach to trouble occurred in the present teamsters' strike. A large crowd of strikers gathered before the plant of the National Ice Cream company at Third and Cypress streets, but nothing more serious occurred than howling and jeering at the non-union men who reported for duty.

When Hammond McDonald, a teamster, drove up to the plant for a load of ice the crowd became violent in hurling its demands.

Clifford Lester, 628 Chester street, a striking truck driver, approached McDonald on the platform and endeavored to dissuade him from working. McDonald promptly drew a gun and ordered Lester and the crowd to keep away from him. Lester displayed a deputy sheriff's star and informed McDonald that he was under arrest for carrying concealed weapons.

"You can't pull that stuff on me. I'm a deputy sheriff, too," said McDonald.

But Lester turned in the call for the police patrol and both men were taken to the city hall police station by Patrolman Harry Teeple. When questioned by Captain McDonald, he proved that he was a deputy sheriff and had a right to carry a gun. He was released.

"What was this call on June 14?" he asked.

LOUIS, June 16.—Nat Goldstein of St. Louis, delegate from the eleventh Missouri district to the Republican national convention, said that $2500 which he had collected to further the candidacy of Governor Lowden for the presidential nomination had been returned. He had told before the Senate committee investigating pre-convention campaign expenditures of receiving the money.

Goldstein said he gave the $2500 to a man identified as E. Emerson, the Lowden campaign manager, before flying to Chicago for St. Louis Friday night. He would not, however, identify the recipient of the money.

DECLARE TEACHER WOOTTEN SHOULD BE REINSTATED

BERKELEY, June 16.—Declaring that J. B. Wootten, for fourteen years member of the commercial department at Berkeley high school, has been unjustly dropped from the faculty, a delegation of mothers and students appeared before the Board of Education yesterday to ask his reinstatement.

That the discharged teacher has a record of being one of the most faithful faculty members at the school and popular among students was the declaration of Mrs. W. T. Cieverdon, who headed a delegation of mothers who voiced their protest at the recommendation of Superintendent of Schools H. B. Wilson that Wootten be dropped.

Appearing in behalf of students at the high school and bearing to the board a petition signed by 400 pupils were Fred Peters, Frank Mohr and Walter Lundgren, members of an advisory section headed by Wootten.

To SUPERINTENDENT

Mrs. Cleverdon's appeal was seconded by E. Ross, while others at the meeting in strong support were Mrs. Henrietta Johnson, Mrs. Sarah Ames, Mrs. George H. Menefee, Miss H. Huston, Mrs. J. W. Glover, Mrs. C. Moore and others.

Mrs. Cleverdon's demand for an explanation President H. J. Woolsey of the school board replied:

"As far as the Board of Education is concerned, the petition is received. Any criticism you have must be directed to Superintendent Wilson."

Direction W. W. Kemp sought to appease the protesters by explaining that the school could merely carry out the recommendations of the superintendent and that no action would be taken over his head unless he heard something of this protest both before and after Mr. Wootten's discharge and would then precipitate the earnestness and devotion shown in behalf of Mr. Wootten. I can say that there has been nothing presented to me which has caused me to change my recommendation in this case."

"I'd like to know where Mr. Wilson got his facts concerning Mr. Wootten," came from Fred Peters, night school student.

He said that there was an irregular proceeding for a student at the high school to attempt to cross-examine his superintendent, "rejoined Wilson. "I am perfectly willing to answer any questions put by the board, but not in this manner."

"You are right," said President Wootten.

LONG PROTEST FILED

Although not read at yesterday's meeting a long protest motion against his dismissal was placed in the hands of President Wooster. In his communication the discharged teacher declared that conditions existed at Berkeley high school "the like of which could not be found in any other American city." Instead of being "inspired to the best in manhood and womanhood," Wooster said that the "worst was aroused to bring about" growing to proportions, he said, which were now "beyond control."

The water company's operating plant broke down last Saturday but no complaint was filed with the railroad commission until yesterday.

BAY VIEW WATER FAMINE ENDED

Acting on the petition of residents of the Bay View district in East Oakland, who have been without water for house use, sanitary or irrigation purposes since June 1, the cause of the breakdown of the plant of the Bay View Water Company, the State Railroad Commission today restored water service in the area by ordering the East Bay Water Company to connect onto the mains of the independent company.

The water company's operating plant broke down last Saturday but no complaint was filed with the railroad commission until yesterday.

Aged Mother Suing Daughter Over Deed

Mrs. Clara J. Slater, aged 83, is today suing her daughter, Mrs. Jane E. Buckley for the return of a piece of property at Gardiner, an island in Lake Superior, valued at $3000.

In the trial before Judge George A. Sturtevant the aged woman declared that she had deeded the property to her daughter in 1914 with the understanding that the deed would not be recorded and the property be returned on demand. Mrs. Slater charges her daughter violated this agreement by telling her that the deed had been lost but she recently found out it had been recorded.

In defending the action, Mrs. Buckley declares her mother deeded the property to her son, but that now the mother is seeking to recover it so H. A. Slater, a son, can sell the property for his own benefit, and that the son has already accepted a deposit on the sale. The defense affirms they have offered to deed the property back in trust, but this has been refused.

A resolution introduced by Mayor Frank Orlis and adopted by solid affirmative vote declared that for thirty years Alameda had been repeatedly opportunity to join in a consolidation movement but had always stood firmly against it. During that time the mayor pointed out, the city has been economically and satisfactorily governed, acquired a municipal lighting system and sold current cheaper than adjacent bay cities and in other ways demonstrated its capability of self government.

OPPONENTS UNCONVINCED

A portion of the city council's resolution is as follows:

"The alleged reason for consolidation is to effect greater economy and efficiency, but only general statements to effect have been published and no convincing showing has been made that under the proposed scheme any substantial saving would be permanently effected."

The city of Alameda has through a long period of years maintained good government within its boundaries, according from time to time progressive measures to improve the same, has built and operated its own municipal electric light plant, furnishing light and power to its citizens at lower rates than any nearby cities and at the same time lighting the streets and public buildings absolutely without cost to the taxpayer; has also built from the profits of the state municipal railroad its waterfront and, upon the same, has kept its streets and avenues in good condition, has constructed attractive school buildings, and has maintained its schools in a thorough and modern manner, and generally has kept itself morally clean and wholesome for its home-loving citizens.

The people of Alameda have recently adopted a new charter of the city manager form which is working efficiently and economically and is giving general satisfaction.

"COMMONER" TO GUARD LAW ENFORCEMENT PLANK

BRYAN TO FIGHT FOR DRY PLANK, SAY HIS FRIENDS

HARDING VARIES POLITICAL GAME, TRIES 18 HOLES

By RAYMOND CLAPPER, United Press Staff Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, June 16.—Eighteen holes of golf will probably break the monotony today for Senator Warren Harding, Republican candidate for President.

Harding expects to play today on President Wilson's favorite golf course at the country club, across the Potomac river, in Virginia. He plans to leave Washington Saturday but has not chosen the place where he will spend a few days before going to Marion, Ohio, where he will launch the active campaign.

The Associated Press learned yesterday that the Democratic national convention at San Francisco to adopt a plank declaring for rigid enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Enforcement Act will present a solid front against Governor Cox of Ohio. Wisconsin Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, declared today in a formal statement:

"The resolutions committee at Chicago," said Wheeler, "adopted a law enforcement plank and left it between the committee room and the convention. Mr. Bryan will act as a bodyguard for it if it is adopted by the resolutions committee at San Francisco."

HARDING WORKING ON KEY SPEECH; MORE GREETINGS

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Senator Harding, the Republican presidential nominee, today hoped to make rapid progress in clearing up an accumulation of mail and senatorial work in preparation for his departure from Washington with a few days for a vacation of two weeks or more.

The Democratic candidate has not yet determined where he will spend his rest period, but since he plans to devote part of his time to his speech of acceptance he intends to select a quiet place. In making a selection he will be sure that there is a convenient golf course.

The Democratic party must go on record as favoring the enforcement of the fundamental law of the land which killed the liquor business.

I will urge a plank saying:

"The Democratic party wholeheartedly accepts the fundamental policy of the nation. We oppose unalterably any weakening of the enforcement law now on our statutes."

"I will fight the Wilson policies to the last ditch. They say that Senator Carter Glass will demand the approval of the treaty of Versailles without reservations which would impair its essential integrity. As a substitute I will offer a plank demanding the immediate ratification of the treaty of Versailles with the reservations agreed upon by a decisive majority of the Senate. To make the treaty an issue in the coming campaign would be a crime directed against the American people."

According to Thomas, Bryan gave the following statement:

"The Democratic party must go on record as favoring the enforcement of the fundamental law of the land which killed the liquor business.

I will urge a plank saying:

"The Democratic party wholeheartedly accepts the fundamental policy of the nation. We oppose unalterably any weakening of the enforcement law now on our statutes."

To make the treaty an issue in the coming campaign would be a crime directed against the American people."

"I am opposed to the profiteer, and will, if possible, insist that all profits deriving from its platform for defining and specific remedial legislation such as 'trade commissions' etc., and community with powers as ample as the powers of the Federal Trade Commission; also laws requiring cost and selling prices to be marked on the goods and the fixing of a maximum price for the articles as the rate of interest, also will insist on indemnification of the soldier bonus, 'to be paid from a tax imposed on war profits'."

'Third Party' Ticket Barred Out By A Law

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—A "third party" presidential ticket cannot be placed on the California ballot in the November election, according to the statement of Assistant Attorney General George Peck.

State election laws provide that petitions containing names of 3 per cent of the voters must be filed before tomorrow night in order to secure a place on the ballot.

An independent list of names of presidential electors could, however, be named, the attorney said. Independent as such could not be ballotized for if petitions are filed before September 23.

EASTERN BOSSSES TO FIGHT WILSON

Bourbons Welcome Rumors Of Third Party in Fight

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—Democratic leaders in San Francisco, the vanguard of the big convention, have their ears to the ground today, listening hard for reports that might indicate the formation of a third party. They are not backward in admitting that such an event would make the task of selecting a candidate in the Exposition Auditorium all the more difficult, and that prospects for his success would be measurably brighter.

The letters flooding Taggart's office were strongly for Governor Edwards of New Jersey as a presidential nominee.

New York probably will vote for Governor Smith, at least on the first ballot, at San Francisco, one of those whom the Democrats hope to see jump the Republican fence, has declared himself a supporter of Harding.

Senator Watson believes his state will support the "Bourbons."

His first choice and Taggart is known to favor Vice-President Marshall.

"Another Democratic victory," he said, "and the endorsement of the Wilson policies, would be disastrous to politics. There is no one here expressing any belief in this report."

Despite Herbert Hoover's elimination of himself from the Democratic party, his name figured in the informal conference of the Democratic delegation, who will be sure that there is a convention, too.

It was known that Tammany's bitterness against the Wilson administration is exceeded only by its bitterness against Bryan. It was believed certain the solid East would stand against Bryan and much of it against Wilson. Hoover, as a possibility, developed out of the desire to defeat McAdoo or any one save Senator W. S. Kenyon of Iowa, a supporter of Hiriam Johnson who is disappointed that the West was not recognized in the Republican convention.

HARDING VICTORY SEEN

"The people," said Kenyon, in silencing the Democratic hope that would bolt, "are so disgusted with the Wilson administration that they will elect Harding. The West, as usual, was forgotten, but for that matter, the Democrats still support it too. They will nominate McAdoo, Marshall or Cox. A spectacle will be offered when the delegates will wait word from the 'sick man at Washington.'

Just how much power "the sick man at Washington" will have is not

RIGHT NAME, BUT THE WRONG MAN

She Will Help Him Worry—Will Sister of W. G. Harding

SANTA ANA, June 16.—(United Press)—Senator Warren G. Harding is going to have help on the worrying end of his job if he should be elected next president of the United States.

"I know none of the responsibilities of the office will be mine," was almost the first comment of Mrs. E. Remsburg, Harding's sister, when she learned her brother had been nominated, "but I would be a mighty good sister to him if I didn't do some of the work."

Mr. Remsburg, whose husband for many years has been a Santa Fe railroad man, declared she had no doubt for a moment that her brother would be nominated.

"So certain was I that Saturday morning that I went to the mountains for a trip and I didn't know that Arthur signed his name to the order, and without intending to cash it, so he says, put it up as collateral in a 'runny' game. Bad luck ensued and the winner of the money order cashed it.

In the meantime the real payee of the order had an investigation started on the subject, which culminated in the other Arthur's arrest at the Navajo hotel. Arthur's defense before United States Commissioner Stone at a preliminary hearing was, colloquially, "How did I know it wasn't for me?"

And after Arthur's father, a boiler maker at the Denver and Rio Grande, died, Arthur's wife, Mrs. Arthur, who had planned him in Springfield with Speaker Gillette of the National House of Representatives, who had placed him in nomination for the presidency. The governor, however, had placed him in nomination for the vice-presidency.

Governor Coolidge spent yesterday celebrating the 50th anniversary of his graduation from Amherst.

The governor breakfasted at Springfield with Speaker Gillette of the National House of Representatives, who had placed him in nomination for the presidency.

Although short, Mr. Peck's stewardship of the city's affairs was very sweet. He issued just one order during the twenty-four hours, which was to the chief of police, as follows:

"Chief, let the town run wide open. The vice reform stuff doesn't make any difference."

He followed this up by telephoning to one of the numerous clubs of which he belongs to get busy and drink highballs.

To other astonished club members he announced he had "5000 coppers and a lot of patrol wagons that weren't working," and that he'd be glad to send them around to take the whole club for a ride.

Nowhere are only two vehicles a motor car ride in free nowadays—a patrol wagon or a hearse," he explained.

The club members politely declined the offer.

"Wouldn't want the job permanently for anything," said "Major" Peck when his term ended. "Too much responsibility. Why, the governor of New York and the Secretary of State have a cinch alongside the mayor of Chicago."

"I know that we are both interested in the same great goal to our common country, and I feel confident that you will be very deeply interested in bringing about the adoption of a Republican party administration in Washington and a return to the constitutional methods of government which were the concept of the founding fathers."

HARDING WIFE'S WOOD

Senator Harding today sent the following letter to Major-General Leo Wood in reply to the latter's telegram of congratulation:

"I do not know how to express my feelings in dictating an acknowledgement to one who has contended for the distinction which came to me. Perhaps I shall express myself sufficiently if I say that had you come to you instead of me, I should have found very great pleasure and satisfaction in conveying to you a very cordial message of elicitation and good will."

"I know that we are both interested in the same great goal to our common country, and I feel confident that you will be very deeply interested in bringing about the adoption of a Republican party administration in Washington and a return to the constitutional methods of government which were the concept of the founding fathers."

PALMER CLAIMS 510 VOTES; MIXED FIGHTING AHEAD

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—Wet and dry battles and other platform engagements which are expected to distinguish the coming Democratic convention are fading into comparative insignificance in the prospect of a bitter and prolonged fight for the nomination. With each day the lines are being drawn closer and each day is more apparent that a deadlocked convention is facing the delegates.

CONFIDENTIAL CLAIMS

Palmer, Cox and McAdoo forces each claim enough delegates to make the selection of either of the others an impossibility. It is doubtful if Palmer can marshal the 510 delegates his lieutenants are claiming.

One well-defined vice-presidential boom for a woman is well under way and two other names of women prominent in the party are being mentioned in connection with the nomination.

CLANS ARE ON WAY

From the start the conference has been the conference between Charles Boeschenstein, national committeeman from that state, and Palmer.

ILLINOIS TO ASK FOR IRISH PLANK

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—An intimation of what may be expected from the Illinois delegation came today when Charles Boeschenstein, national committeeman from that state, said:

"We have been freeing Ireland for thirty years in Illinois and our delegation will fight here in San Francisco to give Ireland anything she wants."

He called attention to the fact that former governor Edward Dunne is a member of the Illinois delegation.

As in the case of the liquor question, the Irish freedom matter will be considered in a city where the matter of Ireland's freedom is very close to the hearts of the people if a minority report endorsing Ireland's struggle should be carried from the resolutions committee to the convention floor, it would be given by several of the women leaders who have arrived here to attend the convention.

TWO DELEGATED

The two other women most mentioned in connection with the vice-presidential nomination are Mrs. George Bass of Chicago, head of the women's bureau of the party, and Miss Elizabeth Marbury of New York, daughter of an old Tammany chieftain and holder of many decorations for her war work. Both Mrs. Bass and Miss Marbury are already in San Francisco.

In fact the busiest spot in the whole pre-convention activities is the headquarters of the women's bureau. Scores of women workers have arrived and are in constant conference with Mrs. Bass. Several women delegates and members of the national committee are included among the early arrivals.

WOMEN DELEGATES

Women who had greater representation in the Democratic convention than was the case at the Republican convention at Chicago, it was declared today. Of the 106 members of the Democratic national committee, 53 are women—one from each state and territory.

Practically all of the states have a sprinkling of women in their delegations and from some the entire list of alternates is made up of women.

It might be she would be inclined to accept such a nomination.

VICE-PRESIDENCY INTERESTS WOMEN

ILLINOIS TO ASK FOR IRISH PLANK

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—Will the Democratic vice-president nomination go to a woman?

This query was agitating not alone the feminine advance guard to the national convention here today, but was also being seriously discussed by the male contingent.

One well-defined vice-presidential boom for a woman is well under way and two other names of women prominent in the party are being mentioned in connection with the nomination.

MAN'S HEAD CUT; POLICE HOLD HIM

Picked up by the police ambulance last night at Seventh and Wood streets, J. H. Henderson, colored, told a vivid story of his injuries. First he fell from an automobile, while he said was traveling at a high rate of speed. When he struck the pavement his head connected with a broken bottle, which caused his wounds, he declared.

Henderson was getting on fine and the police were about to let him go his way when Lee Johnson, colored prize fighter, appeared at the hospital. Henderson told another story. He said Henderson had threatened to make a move out of him with revolver and that he had acted properly. "I wouldn't go near the nearest exit to the street, through which he pitched Henderson head foremost."

Henderson is in the city jail pending examination.

Famous Woman Given Birthday Greetings

In celebration of the eighty-fourth birthday of Mrs. Margaret Blake Alvernon, known as the oldest active woman Republican in the country and who has appeared on presidential campaigns as a platform and gathering speaker in nearly every election since Lincoln's inauguration, scores of her friends gathered at her home at 1451 First avenue yesterday and gave her a floral shower.

Mrs. Alvernon was born in 1838, when Andrew Jackson was president, and a year before Queen Victoria, grandmother of the present English king, was born. She has been a socialist and leader of public singing since she was 15 years old.

SHE HAD SUFFERED FOR FORTY YEARS

"By the help of Tanlac I have overcome a case of indigestion from which I had suffered for forty years," was a truly remarkable statement made by Mrs. Anna C. Berry of 1425 Market street, Hollywood, Los Angeles, while discussing the medicine a few days ago.

I began suffering with this trouble when I was a young woman, twenty years of age and of late have been almost a confirmed invalid. I often had spells with the gas on my stomach and the pain in my bowels was so protracted and so severe that the latter part of each week in bed. When these spells came on no my family thought I was going to pass out, and I did. I lost weight rapidly and I was never free of sick spells until I lost so much weight that I was only a shadow of what I used to be. Had no appetite and suffered terrible constipation. Many times I was up nearly all night long with neuralgia. I tried every medicine I ever heard of and spent hundreds of dollars, but nothing seemed to help.

"One of my relatives had a most remarkable recovery from a bad case of stomach trouble by taking Tanlac and began taking it myself, and it did me so well that I began to take it until I now feel better than I have in years. My stomach is in splendid shape, the pains are all gone, and I have had one single case of indigestion since I finished the second bottle. I have such a big appetite that I just eat ravenously, and everything agrees with me perfectly. I am now a strong, healthy man, and I'm just feeling fine in every way." Tanlac got me up from a sick bed and restored my health and strength, and I feel like it is my duty to tell others about it.

Tanlac is sold in San Francisco and Oakland by the Owl Drug Company. —Advertisement.

Teachers and the Taxrate

Men and women who cheerfully pay the increased prices of clothes, food, etc., complain that a raise in teachers' salaries means "an increased tax rate."

The present tax rate, estimated on the buying power of the dollar, is less than it was in 1913. For the cost of running a city has gone up just as the cost of running a household has advanced--between 90 and 112 per cent. To equal the tax rate of 1913 in buying power the present rate should be $6.53 and not $4.88.

And though living costs have advanced for the teachers as they have for everyone else the teachers have not received salary increases to meet them as other workers have.

The teachers believe that the people of Oakland, especially the parents of children, will see the justice in their claim for a raise in pay. They believe that the parents want their children to receive the best education possible from the finest men and women available as instructors. They are confident that the parents will insist that they be given "a professional wage for professional services."

Write to the City Council and the Board of Supervisors today, demanding of them that they pay the Oakland teachers enough money to keep them at their posts.

THREE BRANCH LIBRARIANS URGED

Three new branch libraries will be established in Oakland during the coming year if items in the departmental budget of the Oakland Free Library just submitted to Commissioner W. J. Bacaus by Librarian Charles S. Green are approved.

The branches will be in the Grand Avenue-Adams Point district, in the Fitchburg district and in the Alameda district. All library activities now in force will be conducted along expanded lines during the coming year the budget provides.

Newsome which has been current that the Fruitvale branch of the library was to be closed next year has been denied. Librarian Green declares: "Present activities will continue in the same manner as last year."

Another item in the budget is an appropriation of $40,000 for increased facilities for the Municipal Art Gallery in the basement of the museum under the jurisdiction of the Board of Library Trustees. The museum appropriation is substantially the same as that of last year.

The estimated cost to start the proposed Grand Avenue and Fitchburg branches will be $35,500 each. The Alameda branch is estimated at $2,965 and $10,000 is asked to cover costs of moving the Diamond and Rockridge branches into larger quarters.

Three groups of women are acting for the right to be elected members of the Chinese Parliament and are demanding that the new constitution be drafted to provide the right of woman suffrage.

MY HEART and MY HUSBAND

by ADELE GARRISON

Why Katie Was Sorry Puzzled by "Meester Graham."

Through my conflicting relief and dismay at Dicky's ultimatum not to speak to me again I explained my emotion over the newspaper, one definite fact stood out. I must not risk meeting him at the breakfast table. I had a perfectly legitimate excuse for asking for an early breakfast, and I resolved to take advantage of it.

I remedied the defects which my hurried toilet of the hour before had left, and when I was in perfect readiness for the day went to the kitchen, for I knew from my watch that it was the hour and minute when Katie always appeared there. We have a little family saying that we can set the clock by Katie.

As I reached one door she came in by the other from the rear stairway.

"At my 'Good morning, Katie,'" she looked up startled.

"Oh! Meester Graham, vot matter? Anybody seek?"

"No, Katie, but I have to leave extra early this morning. The wife of the school principal is dead, and, of course, he will not be at school this morning. I must be there unusually early. May I have breakfast before the others? It's not 'besser' before give in the easiest thing."

"TILL TELL YOU!"

I almost laughed aloud at the mental vision of my august mother-in-law dashing to take Katie into her confidence. But I repressed even the tiniest smile, as I put my hand on the girl's shoulder.

"I'll tell you all about it when I get home," I promised. "But just now I must think of breakfast."

"Don't you worry about dot breakfast?" Katie woke to efficient action on the instant. "Eet vot in de world!"

She had turned to take her bungalow apron from its hook, and was looking at its torn places, its rumpled appearance, in dismayed bewilderment.

"O, I meant to tell you, Katie. Mr. Graham cooked some supper here last night for Miss Holcombe and me, and he insisted upon wearing your apron. I will buy you another one as soon as I go downtown."

"Gee Vizz," Katie's translations of American slang are delicious sometimes, especially when accented by her inevitable giggle. "I wish I see Meester Graham in dot ting. He must have been funny as vun feete billy goat."

DICKY CHANGES HIS MIND.

"He was," I answered, smiling back at her for her merriment is always infectious. "But I am sorry about your apron." "I am sorry about your apron."

"Oh, dot nurtings," Katie's disdain was superb. "And now I feek dot breakfast for you in run little feefy."

Her suddenly preoccupied manner was significant. I knew it meant that she wished me to get out of her way, so I made my exit, took the lift and my own departure.

As I stepped around the house for a few minutes aimlessly, then went to my own room putting it to rights noiselessly so as not to awaken Richard Junior, who, curled into an adorable ball was still sleeping and started downstairs again.

To my astonishment I met Dicky in bathrobe and slippers coming up.

I paused involuntarily, then looked directly above my head as if I did not notice his corporeal body, and proceeded to his room with as much dignity as his flapping bathrobe would permit.

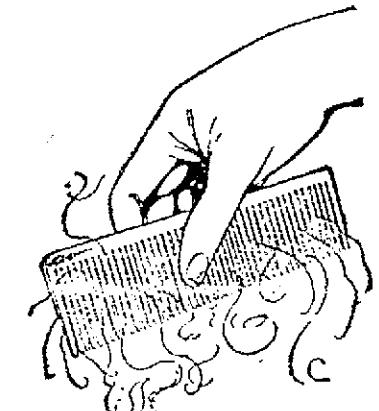

My lips curved into a tender amused smile as I went to the dining room. There is something so little-boyish about Dicky's rages that I cannot help smiling at them sometimes, as in this case, I knew that

SITE FOR GIRLS HOME PURCHASED

At a meeting of the Alameda County Advisory Board for the Salvation Army yesterday it was agreed to purchase the Harding homestead in the upper Fruitvale district as a site for the proposed $125,000 girls' home and hospital.

A committee composed of Fred B. Mellman, chairman; I. H. Clay and George E. Sheldon, with Colonel Brewer and Commander Norb B. Hudspeth, of the Salvation Army, was appointed to proceed with preparation of plans and specifications for the buildings.

The site chosen, which was secured for $11,000, is one and one-half blocks from car service, lies advantageously for sanitary purposes and is sufficiently remote from business activities to secure necessary quiet.

It is situated at the intersection of

A Tube as Good as the Goodyear Cord Tire

We build Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes to be relatively as superior to ordinary tubes as Goodyear Cord Tires are superior to ordinary tires.

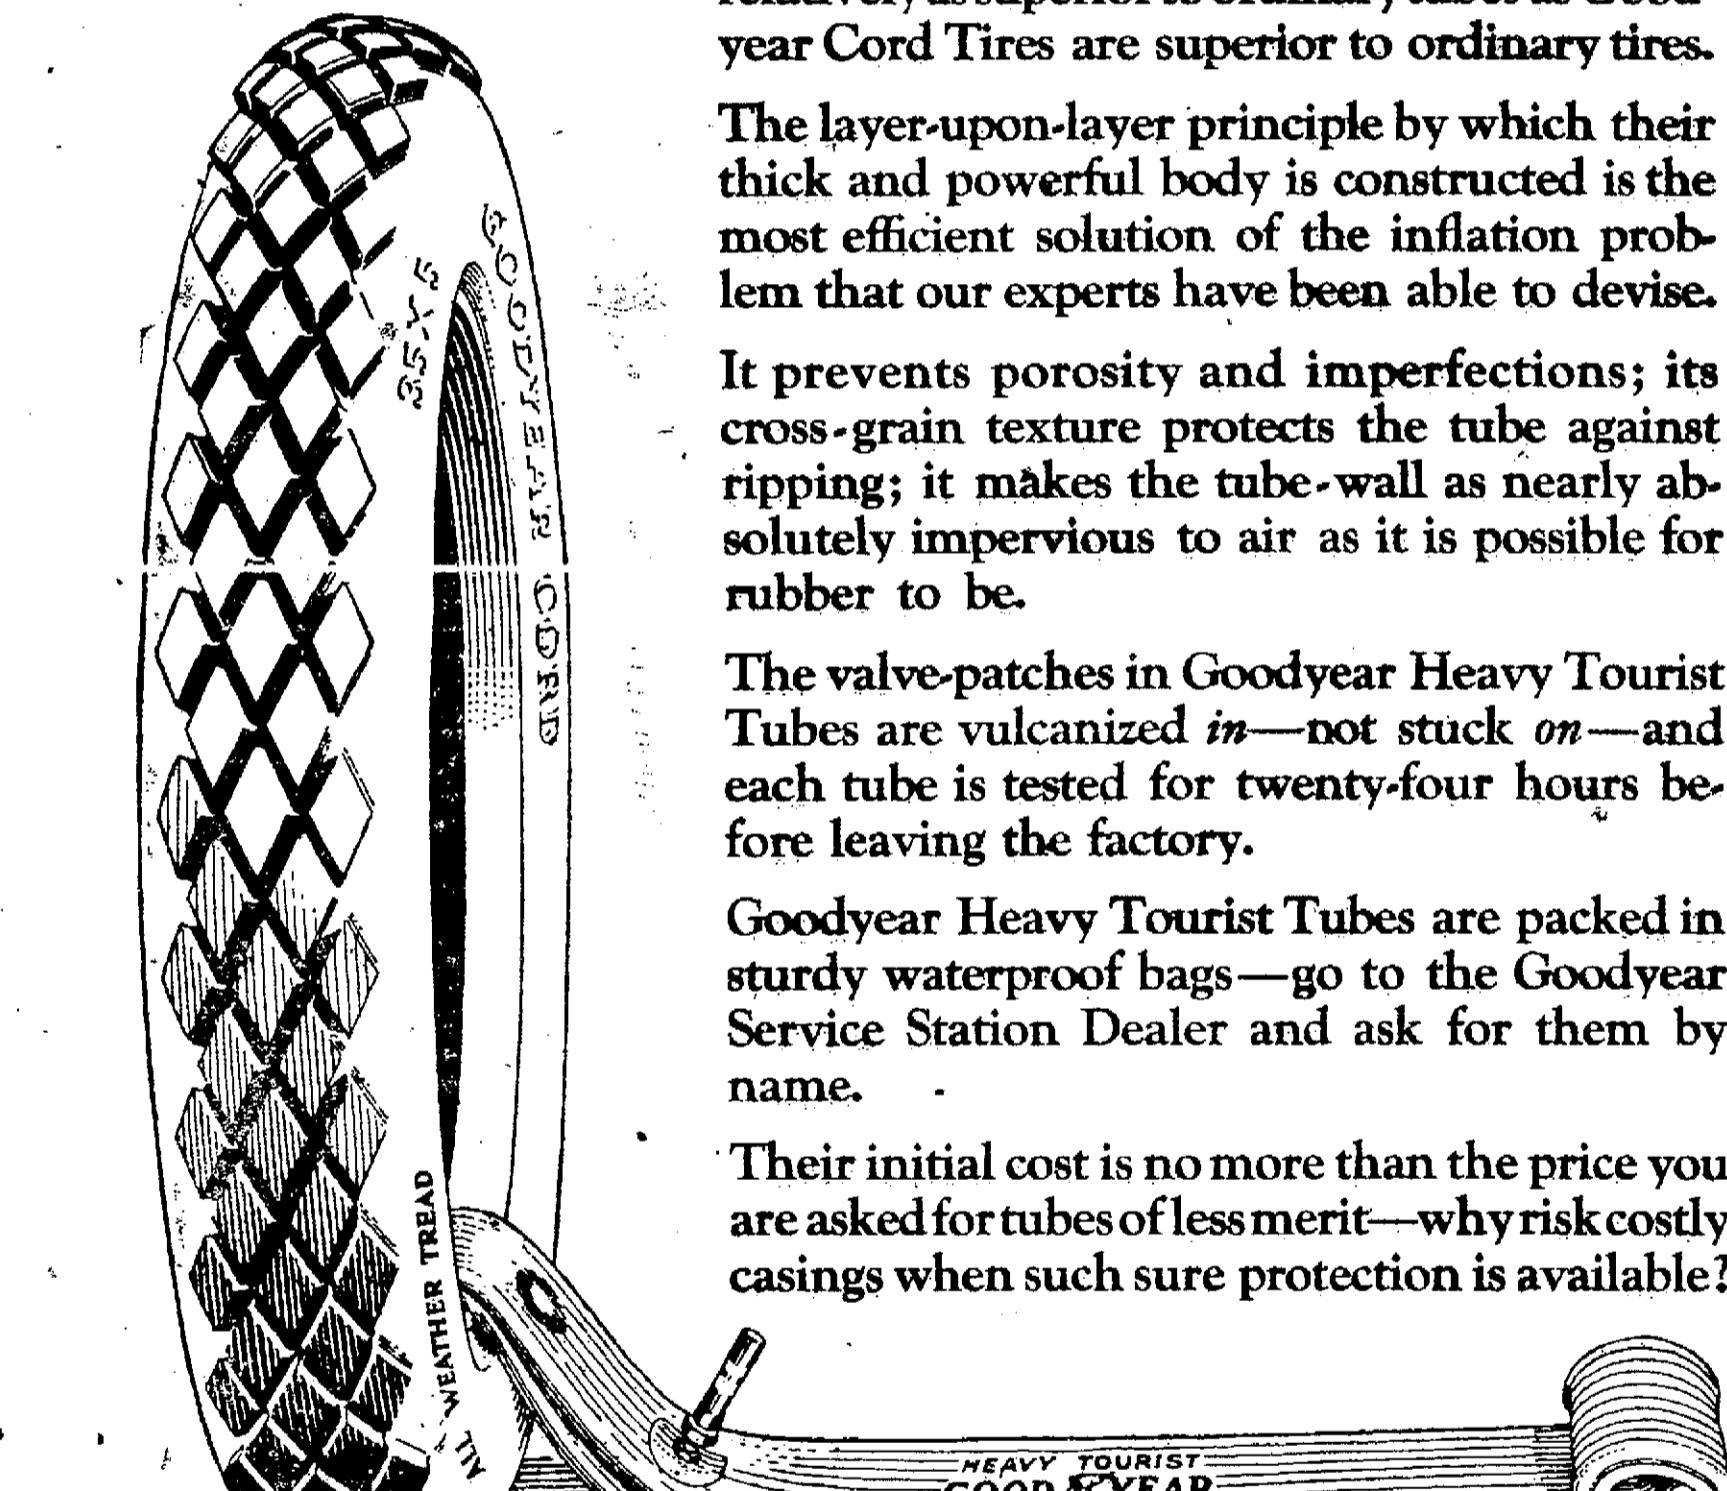

The layer-upon-layer principle by which their thick and powerful body is constructed is the most efficient solution of the inflation problem that our experts have been able to devise.

It prevents porosity and imperfections; its cross-grain texture protects the tube against ripping; it makes the tube-wall as nearly absolutely impervious to air as it is possible for rubber to be.

The valve-patches in Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes are vulcanized in—not stuck on—and each tube is tested for twenty-four hours before leaving the factory.

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes are packed in sturdy waterproof bags—go to the Goodyear Service Station Dealer and ask for them by name.

Their initial cost is no more than the price you are asked for tubes of less merit—why risk costly casings when such sure protection is available?

CLAIM OF BUTLER FALSEHOOD: WOOD

CHICAGO, June 16.—Major General L. C. Wood, in his signed statement, characterizes as "a vicious and malicious falsehood" a declaration by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler of New York that a "hostile group of stock gamblers, oil and mining promoters, munition makers, and other like persons" backed the general's campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

General Wood said he regretted to make the statement, but it was necessary to "brand a fake and to denounce a lie." Declaring that the men who managed his campaign were of "extraordinary high character," the general said that the attack upon them "is infamous" and that Butler's action was "an attempt to ingratiate himself with certain influential persons at the expense of those at the center."

WOOD LAUDS BACKERS

The statement follows:

I have just read the statement issued in New York by Nicholas Murray Butler to the effect that a motley group of stock gamblers and others tried to buy the presidential nomination for me, and that these men have now been defeated in their insolent attempt to buy the nomination represent all that is worst in American business and political life.

The statement is a vicious and malicious falsehood. I would ignore it if it were directed at me alone, but it cannot remain silent. It must be exposed, for friends and supporters are called in.

Colonel William Cooper, Practitioner, was chairman of my campaign committee of men of extraordinary high character, known throughout the length and breadth of the land for his absolute integrity and honesty. His associates were men of like spirit, and all of them responded to their country's call during the war. They truly a group of progressive Americans. The attack upon them is infamous.

BUTLER COWARD, CHARGE

The forces which brought me before the convention with preponderance were hundreds of thousands of patriotic men and women in every walk of life who have informed me at nation-wide state conventions, nation-wide state primaries, and in a nation-wide poll of unprecedented size.

This action of Nicholas Murray Butler is an attempt to ingratiate himself with certain elements which exerted a dominant influence in the convention, and possibly to explain his own political weakness.

It is a self-seeking cowardly attack, made under the cloak of an alleged public service, which was never intended or rendered.

I regret to make a statement of this kind, but it is necessary in this instance to brand a fake and to denounce a lie.

ALBENNE, Kan., June 16.—Rock Island train schedules between this place and Herington will be more uniform henceforth. SHOOTING CLOSES SCHOOL ROMANCE

NEW YORK, June 16.—The first regular meeting of the consortium for China, consisting of British, French, Japanese and American banking groups, will be held in New York on the morning of Saturday, June 20. The meeting is to be presided over by Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co. Lamont has just returned from a four-months' trip to the Orient as representative of an American banking group acting in conjunction with British and French firms.

Only the arrival here of the British, French and Japanese banking groups for their conference with the American financiers, however, does not expect to see any great activity in the way of loans to China.

In view of recently quoted expressions on the state department's knowledge of Far Eastern matters, he continued, "I am bound to say that I found our representations quite reasonable and sympathetic, understanding of such difficulties as are inherent in the situation. Our ambassador there, Roland S. Morris, showed extraordinary courage in the negotiations in which I happened to be a party. Certainly the state department in the last two years has been intelligent and consistent in regarding the organization of the consortium, the final formation of which is likely to bring the whole Far Eastern question at least one stage nearer solution."

The present government at Peking, as everyone knows, is weak and inefficient. Yet if the American people lend to the Chinese the counsel and the aid material and spiritual which the Chinese are so anxious to give them, we shall, I am confident, witness in the coming year the development of a great and powerful friendship the United States can, if we bestow proper thought and effort, help to bring about.

NEW ORLEANS, June 16.—Mrs. William A. Sullivan, bride of four months, was seriously wounded by her husband yesterday at her mother's home here. Sullivan fired two shots at her, one of which took effect in her body. He then fired two shots into his own breast. The bride may recover but physicians at the hospital state Sullivan will die.

Miss Ethel Alina Richter, maiden name of the bride, and Sullivan were married last March while she was still a girl of 18 and he was 21 years of age. They agreed to keep the marriage a secret for a number of years. Sullivan broke faith and publicly announced the marriage in newspapers during May. His bride filed suit for divorce in the courts, claiming that since her husband had broken their agreement she could no longer remain his wife. She charged in her petition that the marriage had been consummated since she had never lived with Sullivan. Sullivan also shot at the girl's mother, whom he blamed for the trouble, but

STORM IN DAKOTA DEVASTATES AREA

MITCHELL, S. D., June 16.—What probably was the worst rainstorm of the year is reported from Mitchell to Wessington Springs.

Cloud burst inundated many ranches of the country.

At Oacoma, just west of the Missouri river, an American creek Kings dam was washed out. Scores of cattle perished.

Nearly a dozen farm homes were washed away with their contents.

Early cuttings of alfalfa will be a complete loss and thousands of acres of corn were washed away.

Many ranch houses were reported along the Milwaukee tracks, and it is feared that train schedules will be seriously interrupted. At Wessington Springs more rain fell than probably at any other point. At 6 o'clock there was two feet of water reported in the business section.

Every basement in the city was flooded, and the stock loss to merchants will be heavy. Thus far no loss of life has been reported, though it is feared that in the Oacoma district, where Kings dam broke, that isolated ranchers have been drowned.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Medical experts estimate of the number of deaths from cancer in the United States in 1918 place the figure at 60,600, and the number of persons with cancer disease at persons at 500,000. Dr. Frederick Dugdale of Boston, a vice-president of the Allied Medical Association of America declared today at the organization's ninth annual convention here.

"Cancer evidence has been gathered, he said, to originate in a combination of hereditary and environmental factors, and the individual has within his body the predisposing causes of it, and that it requires only certain exciting causes to develop. Cure is possible, he said, if the exciting causes are removed and the predisposing factors properly treated."

OBREGON'S CARD MEMORY FEAT AMAZES BRITON

NOGALES, Ariz., June 16.—General Alvaro Obregon, leader in the movement that recently overthrew the Carranza government in Mexico, has a remarkable memory according to H. Percy Meeker, an Englishman who has resided in Nogales for many years and who, during the recent war with Germany, acted in an executive capacity for the British government.

One of the reasons, said Meeker, is to deal out a complete deck of playing cards to a party of seven, memorizing the cards each receives, then, beginning backward, tell each man correctly the cards he holds.

"He remembers whole columns of newspaper articles, and many days after reading them, can repeat an entire article verbatim.

Mars Signals May Be Caught in Plane

STAMFORD, Conn., June 15.—Signals might be caught from the planet Mars by August, 1924. Professor David Todd, astronomer, who is resting here after a recent trip to South America, said he had made the time, according to Professor Todd, Mars will be only 39,000 miles from the earth, the nearest approach for the next 500 years. He said he intended taking up certain experiments with Major R. W. Schroeder, holder of the altitude record, and that he expects to try to catch signals in an airplane.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 16, 1920.

A FOREIGN POLICY—WHEN, WHAT?

About seven years ago, a few weeks after the inauguration of President Wilson and the installation in the portfolio of Secretary of State Mr. Bryan, the United States virtually abandoned all that had ever been considered a foreign policy. Adopting the childish creed of Mr. Bryan that the United States was isolated and amply protected by two great oceans, the administration launched a program of repudiation of America as it had been understood and accepted in every foreign land.

It abandoned American citizens and interests in Mexico and in China and with one exception held aloof from all European matters. That one exception was the abject surrender, personally conducted by President Wilson, to Great Britain's contentions regarding the Panama Canal; namely, that coastwise shipping of the United States should not be exempted, as then provided by statute, of the payment of canal tolls.

Ever since that unfortunate development in the national government THE TRIBUNE has been urging the restoration to its proper place of a definite, comprehensive, easily understood foreign policy. It has done this out of a plainly justifiable apprehension as to what might transpire, first of all in the Pacific area, and secondly in other quarters, if the policy of isolation and non-concern in foreign affairs, adopted by Messrs. Wilson and Bryan, long continued.

When the war came it appeared certain that a foreign policy was to be forced upon the government. It was, but the President in his capacity as peace commissioner at Paris attempted to assume on behalf of the government a policy so at variance with the history, the traditions and ideals of the past, and the aspirations of America, that all but two Republican members and half the Democratic members of the United States Senate rejected it.

The main article of that policy will be found in the League of Nations covenant. It calls for interference in the political fortunes of the whole world and particularly in the existing and probable conflicts in Europe and the Near East. That policy having been rejected by the Senate, the government is where it was after the repudiation program had been executed by Mr. Wilson and his Secretary of State in 1913.

Now what of the future. Those who have abiding faith that their country will ultimately adopt the right course may not be disturbed, if their patience is inexhaustible and their indifference to the day's misfortune unlimited. It is plain that the future policy of this country regarding foreign relations is to be determined largely by the November election. If the Republican ticket is elected we know the principles upon which the foreign policy will be founded. If a Democratic President is elected there will still be a question as to whether the new policy of Wilson's shall be forced upon the country, or whether the opposition in Congress will be sufficient to prevent such a step and to keep the country without a foreign policy.

In the Republican platform adopted last week appears this fundamental assertion:

"We favor a liberal and generous foreign policy founded upon definite moral and political principles, characterized by a clear understanding of and firm adherence to our own rights, and unfailing respect for the rights of others. We should afford full and adequate protection to the life, liberty and property and all international rights of every American citizen, and should require a proper respect for the American flag; but we should be equally careful to manifest a just indifference to the affairs of those in trouble."

"A scrupulous observance of our international engagements, when lawfully assumed, is essential to our own honor and self-respect, and the respect of other nations. Subject to a due regard for our international obligations we should leave our country free to develop its civilization along lines most conducive to the welfare and happiness of the people, and to cast its influence on the side of justice and right should occasion require."

This is the general appreciation of the party leaders of what should be at the foundation of our foreign relations. Specifically regarding the most important pending foreign question the convention declared itself substantially in favor of the conduct of the Lodge reservationsists in the Senate treaty fight. There was no favorable expression for the Wilson league at any time or place and the implied endorsement of the Lodge reservations, by the expressed approval of the senators who stood with Mr. Lodge, was all that could be construed in support of the league covenant and its purposes.

It will be said by some that there is over much indefiniteness in the plank regarding foreign relations. But to these it may be pointed out that there is at present a possible grave danger to committing the party to a foreign policy execution of which cannot begin until March, 1921. The status of the League at present is indefinite.

The relations between Europe and the Asiatic powers, particularly between Great Britain and Japan, are uncertain. They should be thoroughly understood before a positive stand is taken.

But if the national government passes to a Republican administration it may be safely concluded that the country will in its foreign affairs assume a much more satisfactory position than it enjoyed from 1913 to 1917 and during the brief period of Mr. Wilson's unsuccessful effort to impose upon the country the League of Nations with its dangerous restrictions unmodified.

WHO REFRIENDS THE THUGS?

Members of the so-called wrecking crew who have created a reign of terror among shipyard workers in the East Bay district, turned their attention to women and children late Sunday night. Mrs. Joseph Pope, wife of a shipyard employee, was knocked down, the baby buggy which carried her seven-months-old daughter was kicked over and the child rolled into the gutter, and Pope himself was struck with a black-jack and kicked in the ribs after he was down.

This is the latest of many disgraceful crimes of thuggery that have occurred in Oakland during the last few months. They are a scandal to the community, a blotch upon the record of the Oakland police department, and the evidence of a menacing condition which should be eradicated now and for all time.

If the police department possesses ten percent of the alertness and efficiency that a police department in a city the size of Oakland should possess it knows who the perpetrators of these crimes are and could pick them up at once and put them in jail to await trial for felonious assault. It would shame the police department to confess that it does not know who composes these so-called wrecking crews that have been criminally operating in Oakland for six months.

In all probability there are among them persons who, as result of the mysterious leniency of the police courts, have been released from charges of felonious crime with a warning, or a nominal fine, or on probation—all without serious protest from the court prosecutors who are charged with the duty of defending the public interest.

It is bad enough when idle thugs assault and attempt to kill men who are working to support their families; but when their brutality extends to assaults upon women and infants in arms public safety demands that the apathy and indifference and inactivity of the authorities end, and that the criminals be brought to trial and punished under the law.

It is time that pussy-footing officials who are ever thinking of votes at the next election wake up and discharge their duties as contemplated in their oath of office.

Among the visitors at the San Francisco convention of the Democrats will be Messrs. F. L. Fairman and Miguel Antonio Otero. They come from the Panama Canal Zone and mark the first time this foreign possession of the United States has been represented in a national party convention. They have been instructed by the party local convention in Panama which selected them to press upon the Democratic party the desirability of a civil government in the canal zone, and of a seat in Congress for the citizens of that territory. The latter request may be premature but it should not be long before Panama's American interests will be formally recognized as entitled to representation in Congress.

THE WEST'S VIEW.

A new expansion for American opposition to the Wilson League of Nations is found by Admiral Sir Tyrone Bridge who represented the British navy in this country during the war. In the growing influence of the west and in the greater interest of this section in affairs across the Pacific than in those of Europe, in a letter to the London Times he describes the western people—"some of the most enterprising and energetic people in the world"—as having turned their backs on Europe and the Atlantic and as still having their faces turned westward across the Pacific toward the immense and truly mysterious continent of Asia. He says:

"It is my wonder that the inhabitants of the western half of the United States should find themselves unwilling, unconsciously trying to cast the horoscope of Asia. Much of the time also there are, on both sides of the Pacific, important and progressive communities with which growth and profitable commerce can be conducted. The Philippines, the West Indies, the South Seas already have many popular stopover stations on the Pacific between the western coast of the republic and the Philippines. latent contemplation of the probabilities of the future connected with conditions in the Pacific ocean may well so occupy the minds of the people of the western half of the great American republic that indifference to the affairs of Europe is inevitable."

Growth of trans-Pacific commerce has ambitions given the people of the west a deeper interest in the affairs of Asia than is shown by those of the east who face toward Europe. Americans are disposed to rely on their own strength and their own good intentions rather than on any league of nations to preserve peace and develop trade with the orient, and therefore do not realize the need of a league to protect their rights on the Pacific as much as on the Atlantic. But Admiral Bridge seems to have overlooked the fact that the Panama canal has placed the Pacific coast as near to sea to Europe as it is to Asia and that steamships run from Portland as frequently across the Atlantic as across the Pacific.

In fact the Pacific states stand midway in distance between the two old continents and the horizon on land or the whole of the old world. They are far from different to the affairs of other continents but their orientation of the realities and ambitions of the nations which come within their purview may well have rendered them cautious about encroaching their government to be drawn into the tang—Portland Record.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Chicago isn't through with national political conventions. There are to be three more. The Single Tax party, the National Labor party and the Committee of Forty-eight are to have their respective meetings. None of these will approach the late Republican convention as a big noise, but all will strenuously assume that they are to save the country.

Mr. Proctor did not see his candidate for President nominated at Chicago, but he is in a position to take considerable satisfaction over the fact that he has been so fortunate in locating his big California factory on the bighter side of the bay. The Procter & Gamble concern will be a great addition to the industries of this region.

The European press confesses that it doesn't know anything about Harding, and then proceeds to say considerable about him. It is notおかしい that a candidate for President of the United States should be known abroad, but it is very important that he should be known, and favorably known, at home.

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

A traveling carpenter had an exciting experience last Wednesday. A passing autoist noticed that the traveling carpenter's machine was on fire and when he saw flames creeping toward the gasoline tank yelled, "Jump for your life!" The carpenter heeded the warning, stopping his car alongside the road, and got off just in time to see the gasoline tank explode and parts of his machine go skyward. The auto exploded completely—that is, what was left after the explosion.—Livermore Journal.

The long rumored night service on the Northwestern Pacific between Eureka and San Francisco may be established in August, according to information given out this week. The company is willing to accommodate the public with a night train, but is lacking in rolling stock for such a service, but it is felt that time sufficient cars will be available if this service is established. It would be of value to the business men, as the time of leaving at each terminal would be 7:30 o'clock in the evening, making the traveling hours during the night.—Vikabla Press.

THE BIG JUNE SHOWER IS STILL TO COME

HEALTH and HAPPINESS

How to Exercise to Regain Control of 'Unsteady Nerves'

By Dr. LEONARD K. HIRSCHBERG, A. M., M. D.
(Johns Hopkins University.)

"Steady nerves" is what every person asks for in his search for power. The trout angler, hunter, boxer, athlete, and all others beg for "prescription to steady the nerves" and make them a power in the world. "Trembley nerves" and "unpermed persons" mean that there is some malady, disorder, deformity, injury or ill health which requires a thorough physical examination. To blame the condition easily on "unsteady nerves" or "unoutdoor life" may or may not help. If it does relieve, it does not mean that the nerves were at fault, but that the treatment benefited the muscles, glands or whatever structures had impeded the will.

Here are a few directions to restore the health of those who need a "steaming" discipline.

Stand erect. Breathe naturally. In the most resolute mood possible, stand perfectly still while counting one hundred at a moderate rate. There should be no movements except those of breathing and winking. Do not stare. Do not permit the body to sway. Stand firmly but naturally. Relax and rest one hundred counts. Repeat, with rests, six times.

Be seated, erect, but in an easy posture. Remain perfectly quiet as above directed while you count one hundred. Rest, as before. Repeat, with rests, six times.

Repeat above exercises every day for ten days, then rest two days. The time suggested is merely an example; practice may well be continued indefinitely.

Stand erect. Breathe and wink naturally. Fix the eyes upon some small object on the wall of your room, say a nail-head, or the corner of a picture, or a round spot made with a pencil and large enough to be seen at a distance of eight feet. Place the tip of the forefinger of the right hand, palm toward face, directly on a line running from the right eye to such object or spot. Slowly move the hand, palm toward the face, from your body along such imaginary line, keeping the tip of finger rigidly thereon, until the arm is fully extended, and return to original position in the same manner six times.

Repeat, with edge of hand toward face, six times. Repeat, with back of hand toward face, six times. Repeat, shutting thumb and first finger, with second finger, six times.

Continue these exercises every day for ten days, with rest.

Stand erect. Extend the right arm, limp, at full length, pointing with the forefinger. Move the whole limp arm, slowly and evenly, from left to right, so as to describe a perfect circle of several feet diameter, drawing it with the finger. Six times. Not too rapidly. Do not jerk, but control trembling and unevenness of movement.

ALVERSON DENIES STORIES TOLD BY KLEINSCHMIDTS

After Edward R. Alverson, former member of the Communist Labor Party who turned state's evidence, had categorically denied all the assertions attributed to him by the Misses Bertha and Ellen Kleinschmidt yesterday, the trial of John C. Taylor charged with criminal syndication to an end, and the opening argument for the prosecution was begun by Deputy Attorney Earl Warren.

That he had never told Miss Anita Whitney and the Kleinschmidt sisters that he was under the thumb of the police and that Chief of Police J. F. Lynch had a secret fund of $150 which he expected to receive from his testimony, was the defense of Alverson. He denied saying that the police wanted him to frame up on the members of the Communist Labor Party or that Miss Whitney had asked him to only tell the truth if he should testify. He said Miss Whitney had only begged him not to testify at all and pictured to him what a terrible thing an informer was.

Alverson denied he had expressed hate for Taylor and threatened to "get him," and said he was depurated as a deputy sheriff so he could carry a gun and protect himself from his former comrades. The witness declared he had never been offered any money for his testimony and did not expect any but that he had voluntarily called up Inspector Fenton Thompson and informed him he was ready to tell what he knew and had been referred to the district attorney's office.

Alverson characterized the assertion of the Misses Kleinschmidt that he had sold Chief Lynch $1500 but did not seem to want to give it up as an "absolute falsehood."

After Taylor had elicited the information that Alverson had been in his district attorney's office this morning and read over the transcript of the testimony given by the Kleinschmidt sisters, he closed his case without further cross-examination.

Caruso Chauffeur, Found With Pistol, Denies Robbery

MRS. ENRICO CARUSO, thief of whose jewels has brought discord to home of famous singer.

"Revolver Given to Me to Protect Baby," He Says in Protest

EAST HAMPTON, N. Y., June 16.—George Fitzgerald, chauffeur for Enrico Caruso, opera singer, whose country home here recently was robbed of jewels valued at $500,000, has been arrested on a charge of violating the Sullivan law by having a revolver in his possession without a permit. Fitzgerald, with other employees of the household, has since been detained on the Caruso estate, since the jewel thief by order of the district attorney.

The chauffeur, a man bidding goodbye to his wife and children, who occupy a small house on the Caruso estate, said: "Don't worry, I am innocent. They are trying to lay this robbery on me."

"That revolver was given to me by Mrs. Caruso when we arrived here on May 8," Fitzgerald said tonight. "It was kept in a bureau drawer in my room for the protection of Mrs. Caruso and her baby."

A petition signed by every janitor in the city was presented to the school. The request was filed without comment.

PROVIDE INFORMATION

That resolution, introduced by Commissioner W. H. Edwards, was for the purpose, however, of providing the council with information according to a statement by Commissioner Edwards this morning, in which he declared that it will be reconsidered by the council because of the resolution passed at the conclusion of yesterday's session asking Cook to inform the body what the tax rate would be if all of the increases asked for should be granted.

AMENDED RESOLUTION

Following the action of the council yesterday on the salary question the proper ordinances covering the salary and wage increases recommended in the various departments and branches of the city service will be drawn up by municipal efficiency expert N. W. Cook and City Attorney H. L. Hagan, under an amended resolution adopted by the council this morning.

The recommendations of Cook adopted by the council yesterday provide increases totaling $117,838 for 1021 city employees in 115 different classes of work, to become effective on July 1, the beginning of the new fiscal year of 1920-21. No provision was made in the report for increases for school teachers or laborers, and the police and fire department members were granted flat increases of $10 each, instead of the $25 originally asked by both departments.

Backwardness in study, especially, should be taken as an indication of possible eye trouble—while even the clever scholar who frowns while working, or who suffers from frequent headaches, may be suffering from eye strain.

The eyes of every child should be examined to make quite sure whether glasses are needed or not.

POLICEMEN AND TEACHERS SEEK PAY INCREASES

Renewed efforts will be made by city employees to obtain larger salary increases than those adopted by the City Council yesterday for the coming fiscal year, it developed today, when representatives of both the teachers and the policemen announced that they will continue their campaigns.

According to Captain Thorvald Brown, chairman of the policemen's committee, the members of that department will attempt to induce City Assessor Harry C. Williams to increase the property assessment in order to provide sufficient money for the campaign.

At the request of the policemen, Captain Brown offered a motion endorsing the stand taken by Commissioner Morse and commanding him for his action. The motion was passed by the votes of Commissioners Edwards, Morse and Soderberg, Mayor John L. Davis and Commissioner W. J.

INCREASES PROVIDED

Members of both of those departments are provided with salary increases of $10 a month under the recommendations of municipal efficiency expert N. W. Cook, adopted by the council yesterday, but the firemen are making their campaign for a flat $25 increase, while the policemen have asked for a graduated scale for the different ranks, with a $25 increase for all patrolmen.

C. R. Stuart, chairman of the teachers' campaign committee, announced that the school employees will also continue their efforts regardless of yesterday's decision of the council, anticipating that the question may be reconsidered by the council because of the resolution passed at the conclusion of yesterday's session asking Cook to inform the body what the tax rate would be if all of the increases asked for should be granted.
